DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 2-5,7,14,17,18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miyazaki et al. (US 5108228) in view of Griffioen et al. (US 5639183).

Miyazaki et al. discloses a sub-ducting apparatus comprising a sub-duct (1) and a remotely operable path-finding element (member 2 and part of member 1 near member 2) arranged to facilitate insertion of the sub-duct into a duct (c). The path-finding element is capable of being selectively activated (this is the case because the user regulates how much heat and pressure are applied to the tube (1), which includes the part of member 1 near member 2). The path-finding element is capable of negotiating a path through an obstruction in the duct that can affect insertion of the sub-duct (this is the case since member 2 has a dome shape). The sub-duct is an elongate sleeve. The path-finding element is a path-finding head. The head is detachable. The head is outwardly deformable (this is the case when the device is inflated). The head is outwardly deformable at the front end. Means for advancing (see col. 5 lines 30-40). Miyazaki et al. discloses the invention substantially as claimed. However, Miyazaki et al. is silent about the sub-duct and path-finding element sleeving over a cable. Griffioen et al. teaches a sub-duct (21) and path-finding element (see Fig. 4) sleeving over a cable (22). It would have been considered obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Miyazaki et al. to have the sub-duct and path-finding element sleeve over a cable as taught by Griffioen et al. in order to be able to line a pipe having existing cables running therethrough.

Re claim 17, Griffioen et al. teaches the removal of the cable.

With regards to claims 18,20, the recited method steps are considered obvious in view of the claimed combination above.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 19, 20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
